

A George II Sparrow Beak Jug made in London in 1737 by George Greenhill Jones.

Sold

REF: 192832

Description

The Jug stands on a circular spreading foot decorated with reeded bands. The baluster shaped body rises to an everted rim and this example has a sparrow beak pouring spout and a scroll handle. The base displays a good set of hallmarks and a set of contemporary engraved initials.

Height: 3.1 inches, 7.75cm

Length, shout to handle: 3 inches, 7.5cm