

A rare George III Twelve Pointed Star Wine Label made in London in 1793 by Thomas Phipps & Edward Robinson.

Sold

REF: 375358

Description

The label is modelled in the rare twelve pointed star design, the points decorated with linear designs and beads. The central face is engraved with BRANDY, surrounded by a bright cut frame. This is a scarce design in excellent condition, the reverse displaying a crisp set of marks. A near identical design, engraved for Madeira, is shown in " Wine Labels 1730-2003 - A Worldwide History", page 65. Diameter: 1.9 inches, 4.75 cm
